IL GRANDE VETRO DI FRANCESCO VEZZOLI (AFTER LEONOR FINI)

WONDERGLASS

by Francesco Vezzoli, 2022

Radical Parisian haute couturière, Elsa Schiaparelli (1890-1973), is arguably art history's first punk, and definitely its first deconstructivist. Enduringly noted for a handful of collaborations with avant-garde artists during the 1930s – such as her 1937 Shocking perfume, with bottle designed by Argentinian surrealist Leonor Fini – the Schiaparelli signature, rather, was a promise to celebrate powerful, erotic women. Shocking is reinterpreted by Francesco Vezzoli in radically outsized proportion, doubly amplifying Schiaparelli's pioneering sensibility and the bottle's curvature inspired by a dress form for Hollywood actress Mae West. Monolithic, the work stands as a commemorative tribute to three astonishing women.
